6 Minutes.

Resolved that the Minutes of the West Glamorgan Archives Committee meeting held on 14 June 2019 be approved as a correct record.

7 Report of the County Archivist.

The County Archivist presented a report which outlined the work of the Joint Archive Service during the period June - August 2019.

Use of the Service

He reported on the use of the Service for the quarter and also referred to the comparison of statistics for 2018/19 and detailed the background and rationale behind the statistics.

The vast amount of material that is available online now has also impacted on visitor numbers, although engagement with the public has increased due to the use of social media.

He referred to the co-operation that the service had given the UK Government's Infected Blood Inquiry, who had visited several times to look at Health Authority archives.

Service Outreach

The County Archivist reported that the exhibition commemorating the 50th anniversary of Swansea being awarded city status had been displayed, among other venues, during both the Royal visit of HRH Prince Charles to the Patti Pavilion, and the St Helens Road street party.

It was also available to be displayed around the City during the 50th anniversary year, and asked Members if they could promote and share this resource within their communities.

He referred to the hosting by the service in August of an exhibition prepared by the Jewish History Association of South Wales.

He outlined the schools that had received education sessions from the service during the quarter and those organisations that talks had been provided too.

The factors and influences that affect the number of school visits were outlined and discussed. The County Archivist indicated he would continue to promote the service via all appropriate channels within both authorities, and again asked Members who sat on school governing bodies to promote the services availability within their schools.

He outlined that the new Archive Service publication 'A new, even better Abertawe: the rebuilding of Swansea, 1941-1961' would be launched later in the day at Swansea Museum. He indicated that all Members of the Committee were welcome to attend the launch.

He referred to a proposal to utilise the remainder of the publications reserve to reprint 'The Three Nights Blitz' by Dr John Alban. He indicated that this was the most sought-after book by the public of those now out of print which had been published by the Archive Service and its predecessors over the years. A modest amount remained in the publications reserve after the publication of 'Rebuilding Swansea 1941-1961', which fund would then be exhausted and closed.

Resolved that the use of the publications reserve for a limited reprint of 'The Three Nights Blitz' be approved.

Staff

The County Archivist reported that both authorities are in consultation around the future of the archives reserves. A further update and report will be provided to the Committee in December.

He explained the background to and basis for the three different archive reserve funds.

He indicated that the Archive Trainee post had not been advertised this year.

The future of the post and issues/discussions around staffing levels within the service will continue throughout the budget setting process for 2020/21.

Professional Meetings & Partnership Working

He reported on the various meetings attended by staff during the quarter.

Archive Collections

He reported on the list of archives received by the Service during the quarter.

The meeting ended at 11.55 am

2. Archives Accreditation

On 1 July 2016, West Glamorgan Archive Service was awarded accredited status under the UK Archives Accreditation Scheme for its Swansea service point. Archive Service Accreditation defines good practice and agreed standards for archives across the UK, thereby providing external validation for the direction and development of each service. Archive Service Accreditation is supported by a UK-wide partnership of the Archives and Records Association, Archives and Records Council Wales, National Records of Scotland, Public Record Office of Northern Ireland, Scottish Council on Archives, The National Archives and Welsh Government through its Museums, Archives and Libraries Division.

The award of the Standard lasts for six years, subject to a review at halfway point. It is based on three criteria, organisational health, care of the collections and stakeholders and the user experience. On 7 November, the Service faced an intermediate review of its compliance with the Standard, which it failed to meet in the following respects:

On Resources: Buildings, the Panel noted that planning for future relocation of the archives is still at a very basic stage and it is unclear whether any current proposals will provide adequately for the preservation and development needs for the collections. Further clarity is needed around the Service's commitment to ensure that future archive provision meets archival standards.

On Resources: Finance, the Panel noted that there is uncertainty over the budgetary position going forward. The full implications of a proposed budget cut in 2020/2021 are yet to be clarified and what this will mean for service delivery.

The Panel noted that the Archive Service has been managing a complex and changing situation with regard to its long-term home and budgets. They recognise the strength of the Service's overall performance despite this difficult situation and congratulated the team on having continued to deliver and progress as a service while also preparing for a possible move.

However, given the current uncertainty about future accommodation and service resources, the Panel felt that the award should move to provisional status for the next twelve months. Retention of the award is provisional on clarifying by November 2020 plans for service relocation and on better understanding the impacts on the service of any change to funding.. In detail, the requirements are:

- The Archive Service must confirm planning for the future relocation of the service and the sustainable management and preservation of its collections. Plans for the future accommodation of the service must ensure that the collections are appropriately safeguarded in archival standard storage and that provision is made to enable the service to continue to develop its collections and secure the historical record of its local community for future generations.

- The service must engage with the public to ensure that any changes to the public service meet user needs and offer equitable service access for the communities it serves.
- The service must review its policies in order to create a single coherent policy framework.

On the last point, a revised and more co-ordinated set of Archive Service policies will be brought to a future meeting of the Committee for approval.
