Report of the Cabinet Member for Stronger Communities
Community Cohesion and Hate Crime Scrutiny Working Group
14 November 2017

Purpose	To provide an overview of Community Cohesion and Hate Crime arrangements
Content	This report includes an overview of the Council's work to support and promote community cohesion and tackle issues around hate crime.
Councillors are being asked to	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Give their views on this matter• Make recommendations to Cabinet Member as necessary
Lead Councillor(s)	Councillor Will Evans, Cabinet Member for Stronger Communities
Lead Officer(s)	Jane Whitmore, Partnership & Commissioning Manager
Report Author	Paul Thomas, Community Integration & Partnership Manager

1. General Description

1.1 The Councils work on Community Cohesion and Hate Crime take a partnership approach to tackling these issues and as such, both these areas sit within the Councils Partnership & Commissioning Team under the umbrella of Community Integration

1.2 Community Cohesion - Swansea Council has received Community Cohesion Funding from the Welsh Government (WG) since 2009 for the implementation and support of the overall aims and objectives of Welsh Governments 'Getting on Together – A Community Cohesion Strategy for Wales' (i.e. to achieve a fair and just society).

1.3 Swansea Council has agreed their own definition of Community Cohesion. In Swansea, it means enabling different groups of people to get on well together and respect the differences in our society. Community Cohesion is the absence of hate crime and the absence of attitudes of hate or ignorance.

1.4 Since then the programme has undergone through a number of phases:

Phase	Key outcome
Phase 1: (Apr 2009 – Mar 2012)	Funded a number of small projects addressing issues of community cohesion in Swansea.
Phase 2: (Apr 2012 – Mar 2014)	Grant funds for 8 Regional Community Cohesion Co-ordinators across Wales. The aim was to take forward mainstreaming community cohesion work across the region.
Phase 3: (Apr 2014 – Mar 2017)	Grant funds for an additional 3 years but at a reduced rate of £45,000. The key focus of the programme was on the delivery of seven key cohesion challenges.
Phase 4: (Apr 2017 – Mar 2018)	The Welsh Government extended the programme for another year (2017/18) with same level of grant. However, the focus will change to four key cohesion objectives.

1.5 Swansea Council is the Grant Recipient Body for the Western Bay Region for the current Community Cohesion Programme grant. The grant pays for one post, the Western Bay Regional Community Cohesion Coordinator, based in Swansea who is coordinating the delivery of the plan across the region.

1.6 The three Community Cohesion leads from Swansea, Neath Port Talbot and Bridgend monitor the Regional Community Cohesion Coordinator’s work. They meet regularly to check and discuss progress against the agreed work plan.

1.7 Hate Crime - Under the Equality Act 2010, it is a statutory obligation to eliminate discrimination, harassment and victimisation, advance equality of opportunity and foster good relations between persons who share protected characteristics and those who do not.

1.8 The Prevent, Channel & Hate Crime Co-ordinator was appointed in 2016. Since the appointment, the Swansea Council Hate Crime Stakeholder Group has been established and the Action Plan compiled.

The Group comprises of:-

- Police
- Victim Support
- Swansea University
- the Western Bay Community Cohesion Co-ordinator
- and Swansea Council Officers,

organised and chaired by Swansea Council, and meets every 6 weeks. A copy of the current Plan is attached at Appendix A.

- 1.9 As well as maintaining and delivering the objectives of the the Swansea Council Hate Crime Stakeholder Action Plan, the Group co-ordinates a calendar of events for Hate Crime Awareness Week. This year, the awareness week ran from 14th October until 21st October. This year's calendar of events is attached at Appendix B.

2. Community Cohesion Delivery Plan

- 2.1 Swansea Council is currently delivering a Community Cohesion Delivery Plan, (Appendix C), in collaboration with key services and external partners. This sets out the goals and actions that will help to promote cohesion in Swansea. It provides strategic leadership that enables Community Cohesion matters, specific to Swansea, to be addressed between key partners on a strategic and all Swansea basis.

- 2.2 There are already other Council plans that address some of the factors that impact upon cohesion. The Delivery Plan seeks to compliment these. Swansea has worked to the Welsh Government's Community Cohesion Delivery Plan encompassing its own local actions.

- 2.3 The new Welsh Government's Community Cohesion Delivery Plan for 2017/18 has the following key objectives:

Objective 1:	Work at a strategic level to break down barriers to inclusion and integration across marginalised groups
Objective 2:	Work at a local level to break down barriers to inclusion and integration for particular groups and communities
Objective 3:	Supporting migrants, refugees and asylum seekers and settled communities during the integration process
Objective 4:	Supporting communities in preventing hostility and extremism, and managing consequences

2.4 The Welsh Government has recently funded seven organisations (Appendix-D) under their Equality and Inclusion projects grant. The grant will cover 3 years and until 2020, aiming to help local cohesion priorities. Community Cohesion Coordinator will be a point of contact for these funded programmes to help them understand and respond to local cohesion priorities and community tensions, in order to maximise the impact in delivering against local and regional priorities.

3. Hate Crime Action Plan

3.1 Welsh Government and partners in Swansea Council area tackle hate crimes and incidents in respect of the protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010. These include disability, race, religion, sexual orientation and gender reassignment. Age is also a protected characteristic and is incorporated into this area of work. The WG Framework to tackle Hate Crime also takes forward work in relation to mate crime, far right hate and cyber hate and bullying. The Equality Act 2010, created a duty on public organisations when carrying out their functions to advance equality of opportunity and the need to foster good relations between people who share a relevant protected characteristic and people who do not.

Victim Support has been commissioned by the Welsh Government as the Official National Hate Crime Report and Support Centre for Wales.

3.2 Strategic Objectives

Swansea Council's objectives align to Welsh Government's National Strategy on tackling Hate Crime, 'WG Tackling Hate Crimes & Incidents – A Framework for Action'.

Objective 1: PREVENTION

Objective 2: SUPPORTING VICTIMS

Objective 3: IMPROVING THE MULTI-AGENCY RESPONSE

3.3 Measuring Progress

A delivery plan, 'Swansea Council Hate Crime Stakeholder Action Plan' has been developed with partners to deliver specific actions from the Strategic Objectives. This is managed and monitored through:-

- Hate Crime Stakeholder Group comprising of the Police, Victim Support, Swansea University, the Western Bay Community Cohesion Co-ordinator and Swansea Council Officers, organised and chaired by Swansea Council, and meets every 6 weeks.
- Safer Swansea Partnership Steering Group.

4. Management and Support

4.1 Community Cohesion and Hate Crime sits in the Poverty & Prevention Service within the People Directorate. The team manager is the Partnership & Commissioning Manager and the direct line management sits with the Community Integration & Partnership Manager.

4.2 The Community Cohesion Co-ordinator for the Western Bay Region (Swansea, Neath Port Talbot & Bridgend) has the role of co-ordinating the delivery the community cohesion agenda on behalf of Welsh Government. The Prevent, Channel & Hate Crime Co-ordinator has the co-ordination role for delivering the hate crime objectives as part of her overall responsibilities along with the local and national Prevent & Channel agenda on behalf of the Home Office.

4.3 Delivering the Hate Crime agenda is all about partnership working, working closely specifically with the Police and Victim Support who have the overall operational responsibility for Hate Crime prevention, supporting victims and improving multi-agency response.

4.4 Both Community Cohesion and Hate Crime report in to the Safer Swansea Community Safety Partnership Steering Group

4. Stakeholders

4.1 Communities and citizens are key stakeholder in respect of these areas and clearly community engagement, promoting positive messages and raising awareness are key areas for development

4.2 The key stakeholders partners are the Police, Victim Support and Swansea Council Access to Services.

4.3 During Hate Crime Awareness Week, Victim Support commented that Swansea Council are the most active Local Authority in engaging with them in partnership on the Hate Crime agenda.

5. Key Achievements

- 5.1 Mainstreaming Community Cohesion has been a focus of the Programme during all these phases. Examples of these are:
- 5.2 Local Well-being Plan - In Swansea, we believe in the rights of every person. Through this plan, our vision is to work together to make a better future for the present and future generations. This Local Well-being Plan is designed to improve well-being through four areas: Live well age well; Early years; Working with nature; and Strong communities. Community Cohesion has been embedded into the Swansea Local Well-being Plan. All cohesion related objectives would be covered under the theme of 'Stronger communities – to empower communities promoting pride and belonging'.
- 5.3 Strategic Equality Plan - Community Cohesion Coordinator is closely working with the Council's Access to Services team to reflect and embed local cohesion priorities in Strategic Equality Plan and Equality Impact Assessment. Community Cohesion has now been embedded into section 4 of the Equality Impact Assessment process which has meant that Community Cohesion has to be considered and assessed in all Swansea Council's delivery along with other equality measures.
- 5.4 Hate Crime Stakeholder Action Plan A Hate Crime Stakeholder Action Plan has now been developed and delivered via a multi-agencies approach known the Swansea Council Hate Crime Stakeholder Group. This multi-agencies group is maintaining and delivering the objectives of the Hate Crime Stakeholder Action Plan, including the delivery and coordination of a calendar of events for Hate Crime Awareness Week. The key focus has been remained to increase the awareness and reporting of hate crime.
- 5.5 Local Strategic Framework on Migration - In partnership with the Migration Services in Wales Project, Swansea Council is developing a Local Strategic Framework on Migration, which will help to inform future actions around access to sufficient English language and education; information and accessible services; inclusive communities; and economic inclusion.
- 5.6 Intercultural Cities - Swansea Council has committed in their set 100-day priorities, to begin the process of joining the Intercultural Cities Programme. It supports cities in reviewing their policies through an intercultural lens and developing comprehensive intercultural strategies to help manage diversity positively. A delegation will be visiting Swansea in mid-November to meet with key stakeholders to discuss opportunities, share experiences and good practice amongst members.

6. Current Performance and Trends

6.1 The Police hold the responsibility to record hate crime statistics. The Table below compares the overall Hate Crime Figures for the last three years.

6.2 The charts depicting these statistics in detail, by protected characteristic, may be found at Appendix E

Month	2015	2016	2017

Sept	23	33	40
Oct	29	24	-
Nov	37	25	-
Dec	34	25	-
Average	27	28	32

6.3 The Police have stated that there is no known reason for the 'spike' in Hate Crime reporting this Summer other than:-

- Increased media coverage of terrorist attacks in UK
- Public confidence in Police action
- Better Police engagement with Communities

7. Future Challenges & Opportunities

7.1 We are aware that there are many hate crime incidents that go unreported and unrecorded. Greater promotion and raising awareness of how to report a Hate Crime is needed, especially across some of the protected characteristic groups such as disability, LGBT and religion. This can only be achieved through effective partnership working as we all have a role to play.

7.2 The Safer Swansea Partnership has recently been refocused and a new Strategy drafted with partners setting objectives based on public perception and identified need, one of which is Hate Crime and Community Tension.

7.3 In Swansea, we have a commitment to partnership working through our Community Safety Partnership, which is a multi-agency statutory group of organisations all committed to work together to create a safer city

Community Safety is about far more than crime and disorder. It is about a quality of life, with issues that require input and commitment from a wide range of partners who have a duty to ensure people are sufficiently protected from a range of real and perceived dangers.

The partnership priorities have recently been refreshed based on evidence of need, public perception and data, these have been agreed as:

- Violence against women, domestic abuse and sexual violence (VAWDASV)
- Substance Misuse
- Safe, Confident and Resilient Communities
- Evening and Night Time Economy
- Hate Crime and Community Tension Monitoring

These identified priorities are reflected in the new Safer Swansea Partnership Strategy and all actions captured in a single plan, providing a basis for delivering the objectives of the Public Service Board.

COMMUNITY COHESION NATIONAL DELIVERY PLAN 2017-2020

Ministerial Foreword

Community cohesion is what must happen in all communities to enable different groups of people to get on well together, whatever their backgrounds or circumstances. Cohesion within and between communities is an essential component of people's quality of life and of their local and national identity.

Community cohesion involves us all, and how we relate to others who are different. It is not just about how people from different ethnic groups, religions or nationalities, relate and get on, although this is a vital component. It also involves us working to break down the barriers to inclusion in our society caused by income equality, or caused by isolation and loneliness amongst older people; or by barriers preventing the inclusion of disabled people.

We have moved to a new climate where a Wales of Cohesive Communities is enshrined in the national goals of the Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015. This ensures that community cohesion is at the heart of how Public Bodies deliver policies and services. The work in this plan follows the principles set out in the Act around integration, collaboration and involvement to ensure policies and services are responsive to localised need.

We are focusing on 'upstream' preventative work to foster tolerance and good relations, tackle deep-rooted inequality and support people to breakdown any feelings of fear and distrust. We recognise that this is essential in order to prevent 'downstream' problems of community tensions, discrimination, hate crime and vulnerability to radicalisation.

Work places, community activities, sports, arts activities and schools are places in which we can meet people who are different from ourselves and discover that, in the words of Jo Cox, the Labour MP, "we are far more united and have far more in common with each other than that which divides us.". We recognise the vital role that others play in strengthening cohesion, including other public sector bodies, community organisations, the private sector and individuals so have engaged with many partners whilst developing this plan for our own work. I am very happy that the four Welsh Police Forces and Sports Wales are working with us as full partners on this plan.

Taking Wales Forward 2016-2021 sets out this Government's vision for Wales as a vibrant, tolerant and welcoming place to live and work, a country which is outward looking and where people of all backgrounds are respected and valued, and states our commitment to continuing work to counter discrimination and ensure opportunities for all. In an era of divisive global politics, it is vital that in Wales we continue to work together to help overcome the fear of difference, encourage tolerance and celebrate diversity.

Cabinet Secretary for Communities and Children

What we mean by community cohesion

Community cohesion is what must happen in all communities to enable different groups of people to get on well together, whatever their backgrounds

Community cohesion, good relations between groups, is an essential component of well being.

Community cohesion requires different groups to have:

- a shared future vision and sense of belonging;
- a focus on what new and existing communities have in common, alongside a recognition of the value of diversity;
- a strong and positive relationship between people from different backgrounds.

Community cohesion involves everybody, and all groups. Not just BAME or migrants, refugees and asylum seekers, but all groups of society, rich and poor, young and old, disabled, LGBT, across gender.

Community cohesion work is strongly connected to work on equalities. A more equal society creates the foundation stone that enables different groups to interact on an equal footing. The vision of an integrated, cohesive and resilient society is based on three foundations:

- people from different backgrounds having similar life opportunities;
- people knowing their rights and responsibilities;
- people trusting one another and trusting local institutions to act fairly;

Equality is essential to preventing discrimination and the breakdown of good relations between groups. This means that the community cohesion action described in this plan relates closely to the work in the Welsh Government Strategic Equality Plan¹ and to the SEPs of other public bodies.

Community cohesion work also is strongly connected to work on community safety. Stronger community cohesion, and a society where diversity is celebrated rather than being seen as a threat, prevents community tensions arising that can lead to discrimination, hostility and hate crime. A society with stronger community cohesion, with a greater sense of acceptance and belonging, also prevents individuals from feeling marginalised and excluded.

Community tension is a state of community dynamics which may potentially lead to disorder, threaten the peace and stability of communities or raise the levels of fear and anxiety in the whole, or a part of the local community. Community tension may also arise as a result of the absence of those factors which produce cohesive communities, which is the term adopted by central and local government to describe communities where

- There is a common vision and sense of belonging
- The diversity of people's backgrounds and circumstances is appreciated and positively valued
- Those from different backgrounds have similar life opportunities
- Strong and positive relationships are being developed between people from different backgrounds and circumstances in the workplace, in schools and within neighbourhoods.

¹<http://gov.wales/topics/people-and-communities/equality-diversity/equality-objectives/?lang=en>

Community tension is not intrinsically bad - we should expect some tension in healthy communities. For example, community activism and public protest are legitimate and potentially creative activities, though they may cause tensions. People have the right to express opinions and to 'peaceful assembly', providing they are not stirring up racial or religious hatred. These can often be positive means of promoting social change - it is legal expression and may produce tension. The principal concern is about preventing disorder, the fear of crime, insecurity and actual illegal or criminal activity which often manifests itself when tensions are heightened.

Objective 2: Work at a local level to break down barriers to inclusion and integration for particular groups and communities

Each region of Wales has different groups who are at particular risk of social or economic exclusion and discrimination. For example, a Muslim or Sudanese community in South Wales; older people at risk of isolation and loneliness in rural Wales; or long term unemployed households in a deprived neighbourhood. Gypsy and Traveller groups are a priority in all regions. Actions under this objective aim to respond to those local needs and target the support available.

Objective 3: Supporting migrants, refugees and asylum seekers and settled communities during the integration process

The Eurocities Charter of Integrating Cities defines integration as “a two-way process, built on positive engagement by both newcomers and established residents. The process takes in all aspects of life: economic, social, cultural, civic and political, and continues a long time after arrival. Learning and speaking the official language [...] is crucial to this process and is essential to interaction. The greatest challenge we face is polarisation and conflict between newcomers and established residents when integration fails.” Actions under Objective 3 seek to support this two-way process in Wales, in settled communities experiencing change, or fearful of change, and for all migrants regardless of the routes by which they arrive in Wales.

Gender Based Violence

EVIDENCE FROM REFUGEE INQUIRY:

“We need to look at class inequalities in our society and the huge gap between rich and poor. If we’re talking about people not integrating, I think class gaps are the biggest and most entrenched issues that we face... It’s not an issue that is just about ethnic minorities, and I feel that the discussion around community cohesion needs to embrace and understand that far more effectively. Otherwise, it sounds to people like we’re just talking about a problem that we don’t want to talk about, which is immigration.”

72. On a practical level, Hywel Dda UHB raised concerns that “the Community Cohesion Delivery Plan activities appear to be centred around Cardiff”. They acknowledged that “this may be where larger numbers of refugees and asylum seekers are resettled” but argued that “it will also be important to ensure that integration of refugees and asylum seekers resettled elsewhere in more remote, rural areas is similarly facilitated”.

73. The EYST said that the Cohesion Plan is “overly focused on tackling hate crime and insufficiently focused on prevention of hate crime and challenging attitudes of hate – which is akin to closing the stable door after the horse has bolted”. They explained that “the plan also risked pandering to and increasing racial stereotypes by focusing on specific issues such as modern slavery and gypsy traveller communities, rather than the wider and overarching issue of racism”.⁶⁹ This is supported by research from 2008 by the Joseph Rowntree Foundation into immigration and inclusion in South Wales: “There is a real need to avoid the common-sense, and now institutionalised, tendency to link together race equality, community cohesion and issues of community safety and extremism, and a related need to explore cohesion issues across settled and new communities, groups and areas.”

74. City and County of Swansea said that the Cohesion Plan had sometimes created “confusion over responsibilities such as Social Services which has ultimate responsibility for safeguarding and in terms of asylum seeker and refugee resettlement/integration agendas” and called for “clarity on overall responsibilities for these areas” and an emphasis in the Cohesion Plan on “the importance of safeguarding”.

84. The Reverend Canon Aled Edwards from DPIA described the assistance that the co-ordinators also provide to local organisations: “...when we confront...intensely difficult moral decisions about breaches of confidence when we suspect, for example, that people may be trafficked or are about to be abused. We will talk with each other, but we will talk with these officers, seek their advice and act on it. And from the point of view of an organisation, where we are extremely vulnerable at the rock face of the issues, having those key staff members there is immensely useful to us.”⁸⁴

“Negative political and media debates on migration and diversity undermine the integration of those who are newly arrived and they do far more than that. They also threaten relationships within and between long established communities, undermining a common sense of identity and solidarity and raising questions about the values on which societies are based.”

Rocio Cifuentes from EYST called for: □ “far stronger messaging from politicians filtered through” the full range of media □ campaigns planned around “key points in the calendar” such as Black History Month, Refugee Week, and UN Day against race discrimination; □ “a far more effective communications strategy that looks to reach the most deprived communities in Wales by whatever media they are mostly using”.

The Welsh Refugee Council also described awareness-raising as “essential” to community cohesion: “It means humanising the ‘refugee’ through positive stories about their contribution to Welsh life and by maximising opportunities for other local people to meet, hear from and work alongside refugees. It also means publicising the variety of ways in which welcome and support is offered to refugees by Welsh people and includes awareness-raising within refugee communities themselves.”
