Report of the County Archivist
West Glamorgan Archives Committee
13 June 2014

The purpose of this report is to outline the work of the
Archive Service during the period
March to May 2014

1. Service issues

The Archive Service business improvement action plan for 2014-16 is attached at Appendix 1 and will be detailed further in the meeting.

The service changes required to meet the agreed 2014/15 budget, which were described in the last report, have been implemented. The public service in Neath has continued without change and without any interruption of service. The service to family historians which we provide in Port Talbot is now run alternately with Neath Port Talbot Libraries and Heritage staff on a fortnightly rather than a weekly basis. Senior Archivist Rosemary Davies is taking voluntary redundancy at the end of this month after fourteen years with the Archive Service.

2. Service performance

Members can obtain a fuller picture of the Archive Service's performance in 2013/14 from the Annual Report of the County Archivist, which was published during the last quarter and is available as an e-publication on the Archive Service website. One statistic recorded there is that there were 9,531 individual and group visits to the Archives in 2013/14, which is almost exactly the same figure as in 2012/13 (9,526).

Using the statistics collected by the Chartered Institute of Public Finance and Accountancy, and measured by the number of individual visits, it has been calculated that the Service was the 14th most visited archive service in the UK in 2012/13 out of a total of 126 services which responded (up from 17th in 2011/12) and it is still the busiest of the 13 local authority services in Wales by a factor of more than 50%.

Statistics for March to May 2014

The number of members of public using the Service on-site, March to May 2014, was 2,214 and the total number reached by the Service on and off-site was 2,531.

Total numbers for on and off-site visits	2,531	(2,480)
Number of pupils reached by the Education Service	302	(172)
Numbers reached at events	0	(n/a)
Number of documents issued in Swansea and Neath	2,920	(3,183)

3. Service outreach

For the second year running, the Service has won the Archives Wales Marketing Innovation Award, this time for developing teaching resources for the Foundation Phase, a project which ran during 2012/13. The award was presented by Welsh Assembly Culture Minister John Griffiths during a visit to Richard Burton Archives, Swansea University, referred to below.

In January, the Service applied for enrolment of the Neath Abbey Ironworks collection on the UK Register of the UNESCO Memory of the World Programme. I am pleased to report that the collection has been accepted for inscription and the award will be made at a reception in Edinburgh on 19 June, at which point a press release will be issued.

The centenary of the First World War is a significant anniversary which the Service will mark over the next four years. During the last quarter, we have enabled filming and provided pictorial and documentary material for the following TV programmes and online resources:

- ITV Wales series, 'Wales and the Great War', programme 1, 'The Lost Generation' (14th July transmission). In which the pupils of Glan Afan School Port Talbot investigate the stories behind the names on their school war memorial.
- BBC Wales series, 'Welsh Towns at War', a programme on Swansea during the Great War narrated by Eddie Butler (autumn transmission)
- BBC website, 'World War One at Home', picture for a story relating to Sir Alfred Mond <http://www.bbc.co.uk/programmes/p01nhwgx>
- Independent website 'On the Record' working with Campaign Against the Arms Trade for their project 'Arming all Sides: The Arms Trade and the First World War',

Together with Richard Burton Archives, the Service has been awarded a grant under Welsh Government's 'Changing Cultures' fund for museums, archives and libraries. The fund is targeted at reducing child poverty and social deprivation. Sixty Year 9 pupils from Sandfields Comprehensive School Port Talbot will be given teaching sessions by archives and museum staff at the National Waterfront Museum, the outcome of which will be an exhibition created by them on the history of the Sandfields estate and its connection to the steelworks. This exhibition will be shown in several venues, principally at a drop-in open day for the community to be held in Sandfields Community Centre. The open day will be an opportunity for the residents of Sandfields and Port Talbot to share memories about their community and their working lives.

A second grant has been awarded under the same scheme to create an exhibition on the subject of Townhill Swansea, which estate celebrates its centenary in 2014. This exhibition will be displayed in the Phoenix Centre and Swansea Civic Centre. Further Welsh Government funds have been set aside to develop the project further and resubmit it.

Education Service

On 21 May, we trialled a new education session on the subject of the First World War for a total of fifty Year 9 Pupils at Cefn Hengoed School Swansea. After the lesson, the pupils cleared a patch of ground at the front of the school and planted poppy seeds provided free by Swansea Council. The teacher's feedback on the session was highly complimentary and next year the session has been re-booked for the entire Year 9 intake at Cefn Hengoed. Based on this success, we will advertise this session next academic year to schools in Swansea and Neath Port Talbot.

The Service held sessions for the following schools during the last quarter (statistics of numbers reached as above):

Blaenhonddan
Cefn Hengoed
Mayals
Melin
Newton
Wauanceirch

Talks

Members of staff have given talks to the following groups during the last quarter:

Clydach Historical Society
Pennard Men's Group

An Open Day was held in Swansea on 14 April, which attracted 57 people. Additionally, several introductory talks for new users have taken place in the archive searchroom.
